

It is time for the CW exam requirement for HF access be eliminated. There are other much more used means of communication that are used but not tested. Most radio communication is verbal, but there is no test for that.